How would you describe your personality? I'm always positive, optimistic and curious. So, I want to take on new challenges, because even if I regret the result, trying something is much better than just regretting without doing anything. People say I'm mild, gentle, kind, imaginative and funny. And I think that's exactly true.

What is most important to you? Caring, respecting and thanking people

What countries have you been to? Canada, America, Thailand, South Korea, Taiwan

What are your hopes and plans for the future? I hope to meet a wonderful person, and share various things, respecting each other and raising a warm family. I'd like to become a Japanese teacher (which is one of my dreams) and I want to teach many foreigners Japanese.

What message would you like to send to your future spouse? I value communication with you. Unfortunately, I can only handle a little conversation and reading & writing in English. I'll try to express myself and make a lot of effort to listen what you say. So, let's overcome the language barrier together, please. Then, let's enjoy our wonderful life.
