How would you describe your personality? The best thing about me is cheerfulness. I'm active, honest, sincere and a little goofy. People around me always say that I'm energetic.

What is most important to you? Family and trustworthy relationship which I will establish with my future partner. Sharing laughter ( laugh and grow fat )

Is there anything about you that your future partner would want to know before becoming involved with you?  Yes  No
My job is providing home medical care. Taking care of patients and doing assessment by visiting their homes. I like people and I love my job. I think I became able to give consideration to others' feelings through this job.

What are your hopes and plans for the future? Since I've been at death bed of many people, I hope to spend a life that I can think my life was quite good at the end. I also hope you to feel the same. So, I'd like to walk the path of our lives calm with peace of mind every day together.

What message would you like to send to your future spouse? I'd like to spend every day filled with love based on good relationship with trust where we can talk about anything.
